

MATCH FOR A RISE IN MUSCAT GRAPES
They'll Ferment 15 Per Cent Alcohol and Volstead Can't Touch You

BUT DON'T GET LIT UP

Philadelphians who are bemoaning the advent of prohibition will be pleased to learn that there is no limit to the amount of alcohol they can have in their homes and other beverages made from grapes and other fruits without brewer's yeast or distilling.

The beverage, however, must not be brewed and if it is attempted the manufacturer makes himself liable to a fine. As long as in the home the maker uses is not violating the law and the use is made the sole judge of its alcoholic contents. If, however, the beverage is sold, the privilege is deemed to have been waived and the authorities may step in and seize the liquor and arrest the user which is now nothing more than a technicality.

The minds of the prohibition officials here is: "When is a beverage intoxicating?" They believe that the recent ruling settled the question of the alcoholic contents of "home brew" has revived the question again.

The answer seems to be: "Take it easy and don't make a tank of yourself." John W. Crowley, assistant prohibition enforcement officer for this district, is of the opinion that there is no limit to the alcoholic contents of home-brewed fruit juices, wine, or beer, provided the maker is not selling the same to anyone else.

ERECT WAR SHRINE IN CHESTNUT HILL
Houston, Family Dedicates Impressive Memorial to Boys Who Fell Overseas

THEIR SON WAS KILLED

Six weeks ago the Samuel F. Houston family quietly dedicated a small war shrine on one of the public roads of their estate. It was erected to the memory of the boys of Chestnut Hill who made the supreme sacrifice in the great war.

The Rev. Wood Stewart, rector of St. Martin in the Field, conducted the ceremony which was attended by his members of the Houston and Woodward families and a few close friends.

Three days after the services, the entire family left for Europe to visit the grave of Lieutenant Henry Howard Houston, Mr. Houston's only son, who was killed by a shell fragment when riding in a staff car in the Marine sector in Arras.

His cousin, Henry H. Woodward, a member of the Lafayette Escadrille, was shot down behind the German line a month later and no trace of his body has ever been found.

The monument which was designed by Arthur Brockie, is inspiring in its simplicity. It is composed of a small bronze figure of Christ crucified with a bareheaded soldier at the base of the cross in an attitude of devotion.

These figures are enclosed in a granite covering which is engraved with the names of all men who died in the struggle.

John Millone, an Italian, was the sculptor and he has embodied a wealth of feeling in the two figures of sacrifice. The shrine is erected close to the road among wild brush and towering trees.

Maglieppa testified that he was unaware of the nature of the seal he is alleged to have engraved. It was a government seal with the signature of W. W. Hildman, prohibition director for this district in charge of the issuance of permits.

Maglieppa told the authorities he had made the die for the seal for Dr. Anthony D. Neule, a dentist, of Fitzwater street near Eighth. The doctor could not be found at that address.

Maglieppa was allowed to sign his own bail bond for a further hearing.

DEATHS OF A DAY
JOHN D. COURTER
Veteran Newspaperman of Camden Succumbs to Erysis

John D. Courter, a veteran newspaperman of Camden, died this morning at his home 1172 Princess avenue. He suffered a stroke of paralysis four days ago and had been in a semi-conscious condition until his death.

Mr. Courter was sixty-five years old. He began his newspaper career in 1879 when he joined the staff of the old Camden Press and in 1893, with James Carpenter, published the Camden Democrat. Soon after he became Camden correspondent for the Philadelphia Press and was retired in a position two years ago when incapacitated by his first stroke of paralysis.

He is survived by his widow, one daughter, Mrs. Edna Hillard, and a son, Benjamin, all of whom are newspapermen of Camden. Funeral services will be held on Tuesday with interment at Evergreen cemetery.

Levi G. McCauley, West Chester, Pa., Aug. 7.—Major Levi G. McCauley, aged eighty-four years, died at his home here today following a brief illness with a complication of pneumonia and influenza, who is critically ill at the present time.

Major McCauley was a leading member of the Goodwill Fire Co., McCauley Post G. A. R., and other organizations. He was for many years superintendent of the former West Chester Gas Co., but retired several years ago.

Mr. Elliott, former general secretary of the Standard Oil Co., died Thursday night at his home in Mansfield, Pa., where he had lived since retirement a few years ago. He was born at Cherry Flats in 1840.

Mr. Elliott was elected a congressman at-large in the Democratic ticket in 1882 and served one term. He was also a member of the board of trustees of the state constitutional convention in 1872.

Mr. Searles was born in Methuen in 1841 and in the late eighties married Mrs. Mark Hopkins, of Great Barrington, who died in 1901. In addition to his extensive estate in this city, he maintained a large estate in Salem, N. H., and a summer home on Block Island, R. I.

Mr. Searles was a member of the American Legion and the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America. He was a member of the board of trustees of the state constitutional convention in 1872.

MT. GRETTA TRIP IDEAL FOR AUTOS
Good Roads and Beautiful Scenery, With View of Great Encampment at End

Mount Gretna is a place of unusual interest these days with the presence of the National Guard there in its annual encampment. The roads to Mount Gretna are not only in the best of shape, but full of scenic beauty.

The distance to Mount Gretna, by way of Lancaster, is seventy-eight miles over some of the very best roads to be found in this vicinity. The start is made out along the beautiful Main Line, through Bryn Mawr, Devon, Wayne and Pottsville, thence to Downingtown, Contoewick, Williamstown, Paradise and Lancaster.

In this last-named city of fine hotels and quaint churches, the route turns to the right through East Petersburg and Manheim to the destination. If the motorist so desires, or if the several good hotels at Mount Gretna are full, there are a number of beautiful spots in the neighborhood for camping.

To add variety to the trip, the return journey can be made by way of Ephrata. The best road between these points is through Cornwall, Ephrata and Berks. The route is a beautiful one and the scenery is of the highest order.

As a result of what the police say was a dandelion wine party, two men and a woman were stabbed last night. John Marks, forty-three years old, 2036 Newcomb street; his wife, Mary, thirty-five years old, and Wassil Airtok, thirty-six years old, 1743 Dounon street, were the victims.

Markis was found on a doorstep near his home semiconscious. Airtok, who was found near the Markis home, is being guarded at the hospital as a witness.

Mike Petrowski, twenty-eight years old, a boarder in the Markis home, was held without bail by Magistrate Price today. The Mayor wrote to Director Cortelyou, calling his attention to section 5 of Article XIII of the city charter, which prohibits city departments employing outside workers.

Four men were arrested last night at Nineteenth and Locust streets in an automobile alleged to have been stolen from Raymond R. Brady, of 235 South Eighth street. The automobile disappeared from a garage at 410 Locust street.

The four men are William Smith, Fitzwater street near Twentieth; Thomas J. Kelly, 1730 S. 10th; Silas Bell, South street near Seventh; and Van Vergan, Lombard street near Twentieth.

LIQUOR SEALS ARE FAKED
Engraver Says He Did Not Know Nature of Work He Did

Michael Maglieppa, of Seventh street above Federal, was held today in $500 bail by United States Commissioner Arthur B. Hildman for engraving liquor seals and signatures for fake permits to transport liquor.

Maglieppa testified that he was unaware of the nature of the seal he is alleged to have engraved. It was a government seal with the signature of W. W. Hildman, prohibition director for this district in charge of the issuance of permits.

Maglieppa told the authorities he had made the die for the seal for Dr. Anthony D. Neule, a dentist, of Fitzwater street near Eighth. The doctor could not be found at that address.

Maglieppa was allowed to sign his own bail bond for a further hearing.

TRAFFIC CRISIS CLEARING
Railroad Man Gives Reassuring News to Retailers' Convention

The traffic situation is beginning to show signs of clearing. During the last few days the ordinary process of the Pennsylvania system have beaten all recent records.

This statement was made today by Robert C. Wright, manager of the entire Pennsylvania Railroad system, in a speech delivered at the morning session of the convention of traffic agents and carriers of the Pennsylvania system held here yesterday morning and closed at noon today, was held in the Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce rooms.

"In regard to the new rates," said Mr. Wright, "we have had more kicks and complaints from the carriers than we have had from the shippers. The carriers will be sufferers, but it ought to be realized that there are still big places in the country where the carriers are not getting anything for their money. For that reason, we could not afford to consider them specifically, but to base our demands on the needs and condition of the entire country."

Another speaker was E. T. Carlin, manager of the American Railway Express Co., who declared that Philadelphia ships 354 carloads of express goods, or 88,000 pieces. He also asserted that the present shortage of freight cars amounts to 100,000 and of baggage cars to 2000.

Two persons were injured when struck by an automobile at Broad street and Spruce avenue at 8:30 o'clock last night. The driver of the car, who is not the driver of the car that struck them, was arrested.

The persons injured are Miss Emma Robinson, nineteen years old, 5902 Opal street, and Harry Maglieppa, twenty-one years old, 315 Bergen street. Both were severely bruised and Maglieppa has several cuts in addition.

Harold B. Mulligan, who was arrested, told Magistrate Price, in the one station, his wife is not the car that struck them at the same time, he said, and asked if he could render any assistance. The woman, he said, were taken to the Jewish Hospital in a patrol wagon.

Magistrate Price released him upon his own recognizance to appear if called for.

ALLEGED ROBBER IS SHOT BY VICTIM
Mob Attacks Police Station to Release Prisoner Who Fired at Former Convict

Recognized by a man he is alleged to have robbed of $250 two months ago, John Clarke, twenty-six years old, of Howard street below Shunk, was shot, probably fatally, at Front and Christian streets last night.

A crowd attempted to lynch the alleged highwayman after he had been wounded, according to police of the Second and Christian streets station. Clarke, who, according to Acting Lieutenant Shad, of the Second and Christian streets station, is a former convict, was standing in the saloon of John Kozicki, at Front and Christian streets.

George Grabosky, of Front street below Christian, entered the saloon and recognized Clarke as the man who robbed him, police say.

Five Shots Are Fired "If you come outside I will tell you how to get back your $250," Clarke is alleged to have told Grabosky. Grabosky, according to the police, seized a revolver belonging to a bartender at the saloon, rushed outside and opened fire on Clarke. Five shots were fired. One struck Clarke just below the heart.

When patrolmen of the Second and Christian streets station arrived, attracted by the shots, they found an angry mob of longshoremen closing in on Clarke and threatening to lynch him.

Acting Lieutenant Shad, two patrolmen and two district detectives followed their way through and mob and took Clarke to the Pennsylvania Hospital. His condition this morning was said to be serious.

Men Given Hearing Grabosky and Tony Stupinski, the bartender together with Walter Bennett, of Norfolk street near Front, and Joe Lyakisko, of Front street near Christian, were arraigned this morning before Magistrate O'Brien, at the Second and Christian streets station. Magistrate O'Brien held Grabosky without bail for a further hearing August 21. The other three men were held in $400 bail for the further hearing as material witnesses.

After Grabosky and the others had been locked up, a mob, included in the mob, was said to have broken into Clarke's saloon, broke through a corridor of patrolmen outside of the station house and demanded the liberation of the men.

Major Moore wrote to President Gratz, of the Board of Revision of Taxes, today, urging that assessments on property be raised where rents have been raised. The Mayor said it was desired to keep the tax rate low, and that this could be done by adjusting assessments on the basis of the higher rents now being paid.

It has come to my knowledge that rentals in many of the large office buildings in the vicinity of City Hall have been greatly increased in recent months," he wrote. "I have been told advances exceed 100 per cent in some cases. I respectfully suggest, if it has not already been done, that the Board of Revision of Taxes consider the propriety of adjusting the assessments in accordance with the increased rentals referred to."

The Mayor suggested that the board consider all sections of the city.

Robbers Cart Safe Away Use Horse and Wagon to Remove Bulky Booty From Store Thieves used a horse and wagon to cart away the safe of the American Stores Co.'s store, at 4500 Westminister avenue, rather than force the safe, which contained $165, while they were in the store.

The robbery, which was reported at the Peach and Media streets station today, took place Tuesday night. Detectives Winters and Kennedy learned of the use of the wagon by the robbers through neighbors who allege they saw two men in the street at the time of the robbery.

Besides the cash, the safe contained a wrist watch and chain, valued at $25, according to store officials.
